

MARRIED LOVER OF MURDERED WOMAN ABSOLVED

ALMOST CERTAIN PASSAGE REPEAL BILL FORESEEN

Drys Will Attempt To Add
Another Referendum Clause

BULLETIN

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(UP)—Repeal of prohibition in Illinois advanced a step nearer realization today when a state senate committee on license and miscellany voted to recommend passage of a bill which would wipe out all of the state's dry statutes. The vote for passage was 13-0-5, an expected attendance of dry members failing to materialize.

As a result of the committee's action today the bill now goes before the Senate for a first reading late this afternoon and will receive its first test before the entire Senate when it comes up for second reading tomorrow.

The measure, if it succeeds in gaining second reading will be taken up for final passage next Wednesday. The vote to report the bill favorably was taken without discussion. An expected bitter opposition by drys dwindling to a handful of dry senators whose only comment on the bill was their negative vote.

Following is the roll call vote on the bill by the committee:

For passage—Leonardo, Scitella, Carroll, Gilmerstein, Graham, Huckin, Kline, Loughran, Menzie, McDermott, O'Grady, Michel and Woods.

Against—Hamilton, Felts, Lantz, Wilson and Wright.

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—Republican state Senators were called upon today to vote for repeal of state prohibition enforcement laws as a means of "saving" the Republican party.

Attempts to marshal the full Republican membership of the Senate in support of the O'Grady repealer were started this afternoon in the License and Miscellany committee by Senator V. P. Michel of Peoria.

The Democratic Senators, almost to the last man, already have announced publicly that they will vote for repeal of the dry laws, when the O'Grady bill is called for passage.

In opening the final committee hearing on the O'Grady repealer, which was sent from the House to the Senate, Senator Michel asserted that repeal of the state dry laws is mandatory upon the legislature as a result of the November referendum.

"The paramount reason that should be considered in connection with the repeal of the state prohibition laws is the mandate of the people, and the people surely showed how they felt on this question last fall," Senator Michel said.

"Nullifies Nothing"

"If the Republican members of the Senate will unite in demanding repeal of the dry laws, they will regain for the Republican party its position as the party of the people. They will once more make possible a militant Republican organization in Illinois."

Answering charges of drys who spoke before the Senate recently that the repealer is an attempt to nullify national prohibition in Illinois, Senator Michel said that the measure "doesn't nullify anything."

"The Illinois prohibition act is a child of the legislature and certainly we have the right to repeal it if we desire."

Seizing almost certain passage of the repealer, some of the drys in the Senate are preparing to add a referendum clause to the bill, requiring a majority of all the votes cast at the election, for its ratification.

Senator Michel plans to call the bill for second reading tomorrow. At that time, proposed amendments may be submitted. A final vote on the repealer probably will be taken next Wednesday or Thursday.

Chicago Insurance Office Is Held Up

Armed with shotguns and pistols the robbers guarded front and rear doors while rifling a safe.

In another robbery, a truck was backed to the rear of a dress shop and 450 dresses stolen while Norman Shraiberg, the proprietor, and a salesman were left tied in the office.

Starvation Now Threatens Viking Survivors

Oddities in the NEWS

Washington, Mar. 18—(AP)—A Kentucky farmer needing cash to make his next crop would like to borrow $100 from President Hoover. In a letter to the President he offered a lumber stand of 200 pine and poplar trees "and three times that amount in cash," as security, so he can "make my family something to live on."

Furthermore, he wrote the President that "if you don't believe I have got timber you can send any man you want to come and count the trees." He added the loan would be a great accommodation to him and "make you safe."

PAID 42-YEAR OLD BILL

Davenport, Ia., Mar. 18—(AP)—A student from Mt. Pleasant working his way through school as a farm hand near Durant in 1889, came to the office of Dr. Henry Schumacher in Durant 42 years ago with an infected nail wound in his foot. He was treated and being without funds, was unable to pay the doctor's fee of $175.

Yesterday he paid his bill with compound interest after years of effort to find Dr. Schumacher, whose name he had forgotten, by mailing the latter a check for $19.90.

The student, now superintendent of the Bethesda Home for the Aged at Cincinnati, Ohio, was Matthew Hermann.

Dr. Schumacher, who is now in his seventies, is still practicing and maintains an observatory and a collection of curiosities at his "castle" in Wolcott, Iowa.

LOST HIS MUSTACHE

Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—A mustache, described as being of the tie handle-bar type, so popular in the gay nineties, was giving the Chicago Detective Bureau something to worry about today.

It disappeared from the face of Charles Wilson, alias Frankie Smith, wanted in New York for desertion of his family. He had it when arrested last Monday as it was the means by which he was so easily detected. Sergeant LeRoy Carlson of the bureau demanded an explanation.

"It was a false mustache," said Mr. Wilson.

"Yes?" said Carlson, "well, put it on again."

"I can't," replied the prisoner. "I was asleep on the floor and someone threw a lighted cigarette into my cell. Half of my mustache was burned away. The remaining half was no good alone so I pulled it off."

"All right," said Carlson, "we'll just keep you in jail until you grow a new one—maybe it won't take more than six months or so."

New Alignments In Britain's Politics

London, Mar. 18—(AP)—Wide-spread stories today of new British party alignments, which would lead David Lloyd George to the Labor fold, and Sir John Simon to the Conservative standard greatly excited political circles.

The reports, published in the Daily Sketch and a Liberal organ, appeared to be the outgrowth of defeat of the Labor government Monday night by four votes on a minor clause of the electoral reform bill, principally because Sir John and ten fellow liberals refused to follow Lloyd George in voting with the Ministry.

The Daily Sketch said that Lloyd George, disgusted with failure of the party to stand with him in maintaining the Liberal-Labor alliance, would enter the Labor cabinet as Lord Privy Seal, succeeding Vernon Harcourt, who died a few days ago, and Harcourt's predecessor, J. H. Thomas. The post carries with it an unofficial unemployment portfolio, which would give the Liberal elder opportunity to advance his pet schemes on that subject.

Druggist's Wife Is Held For Murder

New York, Mar. 18—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam Diller, 34-year-old housewife, was under arrest today, accused of the hammer slaying of her druggist husband. The formal charge was homicide.

The battered body of Herman Diller was found in a Brooklyn apartment Monday. A stained claw hammer, traces of blood on the walls and blood-soaked clothes were in the bedroom.

Miss Anna Bersohn, 32, Diller's red-haired secretary, said Mrs. Diller had threatened to kill them both. Mrs. Diller's nine-year-old son, Martin, wrote in his "autobiography" of quarrels between his parents.

RESCUE OF ICE- BOUND SAILORS HURRIED TODAY

Frantic Efforts Made To Get Medicine And Supplies To Survivors

BULLETIN

St. Johns, Nfld., March 18—(UP)—Starvation threatened survivors of the wrecked sealer Viking at Horse Island today while storms lessened any chance that more of their companions might be found alive on the floes.

Capt. Abram Kean, Jr., skipper of the Viking, who reached Horse Island with some 120 of his men, revealed the pitiful plight of the survivors in a wireless message to the captain of the Ungava, one of the ships trying to reach the island with supplies. The message said:

"Do you think safe for my men who are able to travel out to your ship attempt it and get transferred to other ships. Provisions exhausted here."

Capt. Kean's simply worded plea meant that the few residents of Horse Island attempting to care for the Viking survivors had done all they were able to do. Food supplies were exhausted, injured men could not be given proper attention, and a northeaster whipped the coast and prevented even able-bodied men from making progress across the breaking fringe of the ice pack with the lightest of boats for hauling supplies.

According to his story, the four men drove to Compton, where they left two of the cars and continued south on Route 70 to Mendota, where they planned to visit Officer Carr of the police department of that city. Upon being questioned further, this man stated that they had not visited the Mendota police officer but had proceeded west to Princeton where one of the men desired to visit briefly with relatives. The relatives were not located and they returned to Compton, he was reported to have stated.

While the sheriff and his deputies were checking over license plates and Chicago city wheel tax license tags, neither of which had been issued for either of the three cars, the four men returned to Compton in the Chrysler sedan, left one of the men out at a residence in front of which the cars had been parked earlier in the evening and the remaining three then drove hurriedly out of town.

Unexplained Conditions.

In the pocket of the Auburn sedan was found a heavy leather thong knotted at one end, which the officers believed that it might have been used for the purpose of binding the wrists of some person. A light grey hat was found on the floor of the Buick coupe. The rear cushions in both cars were missing. The coupe bore 1930 license plates which upon being checked with the last year's record books disclosed the fact that it had been issued for another make of car. Two sets of 1931 Illinois plates and two sets of Chicago wheel tax licenses were found on the floor in the rear of the sedan. A new radio outfit had been recently installed in the sedan.

Sheriff Richardson today was of the opinion that both cars had been stolen and were being taken away from Chicago, possibly to be hidden in some obscure place in the country for a few weeks before being disposed of. Both cars were said to have had the appearance of having been used in the liquor racket recently. The license plates, wheel tax tags and contents of the two cars were being held by the sheriff today pending a complete check up.

Daugherty Given Prison Sentence

Washington, Courthouse, O., March 18—(UP)—Mal S. Daugherty, 68, former president of the defunct Ohio State Bank and brother of former U. S. Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, convicted of misusing funds of the bank, was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary and fined $5,000 by Common Pleas Judge Charles S. Bell today.

Daugherty was convicted March 4. He was charged specifically with misapplying $5,350 of funds of the bank. The court, in imposing sentence, overruled a motion for new trial.

The judge asked the aged banker whether he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

"I have nothing to say," Daugherty answered.

"Has counsel for the defendant anything to say?" the judge asked.

"Nothing," replied Ray R. Maddux, one of the defense attorneys.

"The court," said Judge Bell, "will make no comment further than to say that the evidence warranted the conclusion arrived at by the jury."

The judge then pronounced sentence.

Says Girl Died In His Auto On Ride

Elkhart, Ind., Mar. 18—(AP)—Jake Griffin, 24, of Cottage Grove, near Elkhart, brought the body of Miss Dorris Gibson, 23, Elkhart telephone operator, to a doctor's office here last night, saying the girl died while they were driving between Elkhart and Wagon. He said "she straightened up in the seat and quit breathing."

States Attorney D. F. Rumsch had started an investigation. The girl was said to be convalescing from an attack of influenza.

Griffin said he stopped the automobile and tried artificial respiration, which failed.

ABANDONMENT OF PAIR OF AUTOMOBILES IN COMPTON MYSTIFIES COUNTY OFFICERS

Machines Are Ordered Held Pending Further Inquiry

BULLETIN

An Auburn sedan, radio equipped, and a Buick coupe, were seized in Compton last evening on orders of Sheriff Fred Richardson and ordered removed to the Leslie Miller garage to be held until the sheriff and deputies could arrive to conduct an investigation. The officers went to Compton at 6 o'clock last evening to find that three large cars had been driven into Compton in the afternoon, in which four men were riding.

Two of the cars were abandoned and locked about a block from the business district and the strangers departed in the third machine, a Chrysler sedan. The two abandoned cars were hauled to the garage where they are still being held while an investigation is being conducted by the Sheriff and the auto detail of the Chicago detective bureau.

Stranger Questioned.

Last night, one of the men, who is said to have admitted that he was a member of the Jack Zuta forces in Chicago, and that he had been arrested upon several occasions in connection with the sales of race track tickets, was questioned but was not held. He is said to have claimed to have been acquainted with some of the members of the quartet who left Chicago yesterday afternoon about 1:30 for the purpose of riding around.

According to his story, the four men drove to Compton, where they left two of the cars and continued south on Route 70 to Mendota, where they planned to visit Officer Carr of the police department of that city. Upon being questioned further, this man stated that they had not visited the Mendota police officer but had proceeded west to Princeton where one of the men desired to visit briefly with relatives. The relatives were not located and they returned to Compton, he was reported to have stated.

Chicago, Mar. 18—(UP)—Heavy snow and rain fell today over states bordering Lake Michigan.

Snow was general throughout western and central Michigan, large areas of Minnesota, Wisconsin and northern Illinois. Southern and central Illinois and the lower Ohio river valley were visited by rain.

Duluth, Minn., reported four inches of snow. Elsewhere the fall averaged several inches.

Mild temperatures caused snow at the lower end of Lake Michigan to melt as rapidly as it fell.

West of the Mississippi river the weather was reported to be clearing.

Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—A soggy snowstorm bedded down the lower lake region with a fresh but evanescent blanket of white today.

The temperature around Chicago remained above the freezing point and the snow melted rapidly, changing to rain as the day advanced. Traffic accidents were frequent.

J. B. Thorpe, 25, a telephone company clerk, was killed instantly when he drove his car into a concrete safety island in the middle of a boulevard. He was blinded by the thick snowfall and his neck was broken by the impact.

Mayo Smelgrave, a truck driver, was seriously injured in a freak wreck. Driving across a railroad track near the Dearborn street terminal, his truck was hit by an outgoing train of empty cars and jolted into the path of an incoming suburban train, which struck him a second time. Another truck was overturned by the train of empties.

Lupe Regas, 32, a track walker on the Rock Island railroad, was killed by a suburban train when blinded by the snow.

Chicago, Mar. 18—(UP)—Snow and rain this afternoon and possibly early tonight; Thursday probably fair; not much change in temperature; lowest tonight about 32; moderate to fresh shifting winds, becoming winds, becoming northwest—lingering northwest.

Illinois—Partly cloudy tonight, preceded by rain or snow in extreme northeast portion and rain along the Ohio river, slightly colder in northwest and west-central portions tonight; Thursday generally fair, cold in southeast portion.

MOLINE BANKER BITTER BECAUSE OF HIS ARREST

Says He Could Have Replaced Stolen Sum
In Short Time

BULLETIN

Moline, Ill., Mar. 18—(UP)—A bank official charged with embezzling $1,100,000 declared a belief today that if his arrest had been postponed just a little longer he would have made a fortune in real estate and been able to return all the money he had taken.

The official, R. C. Shalberg, was bitter over his arrest, demanded a speedy trial and immediate transfer to a state prison, advised his wife to get a divorce, and threatened to commit suicide.

His bitterness was due principally, he said, because he had failed when so near success in a series of transactions in which he had been so confident he had jeopardized a splendid reputation as a financier in order to see them through.

Shalberg was Vice President and Cashier of the People's Savings Bank & Trust Company, on which a run was started after he and two other officials were arrested. The run was stopped when $500,000 in cash was rushed by airplane from Chicago and depositors became assured their money was safe.

Over Several Years.

In a statement to police, Shalberg said that for several years he had been embezzling money from the bank and covered his defalcations by keeping a duplicate set of books to deceive bank examiners.

All the money, he said, was invested in real estate in Moline, Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City.

He was just preparing, he said, to dispose of all this real estate as a big profit, return the money to the bank and have enough left over to make him rich for life.

Then, just as he was about to realize his ambition, he said, he was arrested, his expected profits were swept away and he became a prisoner instead of a millionaire.

Brothers Case
MOVES SLOWLY:
FOUR SECURED

Veniremen Admit Having Opinions On Sensational Murder

Criminal Court Building, Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—The trial of Leo Brothers for the murder of Alfred Lingie was recalled today as one venireman after another was disqualified for having formed opinions on the celebrated case or being opposed to capital punishment.

The net result at noon was exactly zero, with only four of the twelve men who will try the St. Louisan for the sensational assassination picked. The state was still attempting, as it was at the close last night, to fill another panel and turn it over to the defense for examination.

Although more than a dozen men were excused today, only one peremptory challenge was used and that was on a 23-year-old clerk whom the prosecution apparently believed to be too young to sit in judgment on so important a case.

The others, all thrown out for cause, were opposed to the death penalty, had strong convictions regarding the case or said they placed little credence in circumstantial evidence. One man was excused by agreement because his wife and child were ill.

The defendant, wearing his third suit in as many days, lounged at the counsel table and apparently took little interest in the routine questioning. His family, however, listened closely to the veniremen's answers and watched their faces. Harvey Brothers, his father, leaned forward with his arms on the bench ahead in order to hear every word. Mrs. Rose Jensen, the defendant's mother, scribbled frequently in a small notebook she has carried every day at the trial.

Traffic Conditions Unfair To Railways

Peoria, Ill., March 18—(UP)—Regulation of motor trucks and passenger coaches, pipe lines and airways was urged last night by George I. Matson, Shreveport, La., and E. E. Nash, Chief Operating Officer of the M. & St. L. Railroad, at a mass meeting of railroad employees at the state armory.

"Railroads pay $12,500 taxes for every mile of track," Matson charged, "while trucks and buses pay about $40 a mile for the highways upon which they operate. Every mile of the highways they travel on is built at the expense of the people. That is not fair and as a result 325,000 railroad employees have been thrown out of work since 1929."

Employees of six railroads attended the meeting.

WOMAN'S BODY IS FOUND; HIS AUTO ABANDONED IN VA.

Two Men Who Left Car In Jonesville Va. Probable Killers

Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—County police abandoned today their efforts to break down Frank J. Murray's story of the kidnapping of Miss Norma Newby, whose body was found last night in a forest preserve snow bank.

Lieut. Lester Laird, in charge of the investigation, said Murray's description of the two men who beat him an kidnapped Miss Newby Mar. 2 tallied with that of two youths who abandoned Murray's automobile late the next day in Jonesville, Va.

"This practically casts all suspicion from Murray," Laird said. "His stories jibes in all but a few minor details and he is being held only for a witness at the Coroner's inquest tomorrow."

Laird said county police would make no charge against Murray at the inquest.

Murray is married and father of two girls. He told police he had known Miss Newby for 17 years.

Slayers Escaped

Word of the automobile abandonment was received by county police in a letter from Sheriff Thomas B. Fleenor of Jonesville, sent to D. J. Murray, brother of the salesman sweetheart of Miss Newby.

County police secured from Fleenor today the description of the youths, about 22 and 24 years old. They abandoned the car, escaping from Fleenor, after attempting to steal another.

Laird said the youths were undoubtedly the murderers of Miss Newby.

His disclosure of the collapse of the county police's attempt to connect Murray with the crime, followed an announcement that the Northwestern University crime laboratory was making a microscopic search for evidence.

Arthur Dorion, to whom Miss Newby had been engaged for four years, was released after checking the automobile abandonment.

SIERRA SONG

High up where the singing winds are born.
And the snow peaks climb the sky,
Where the star lights spangle the purple nights,
On the wide plateau I lie.
The clouds like gray, foam-crested waves
Break softly over the moon
That robed the snows of their sunset rose
And sapphire all too soon.
From my pine-sweet bed I look overhead
And watch the planets swing,
And the star-ships race through boundless space
Like vast fleets journeying.
And I dream that there in that infinite deep
More precious than ship of Tyre,
On her way to me from eternity,
Is my ship of heart's desire.

She was built in the land of dreams and launched
From faith's wide shore sublime,
She follows a track, and will not turn back
Though baffled by storm and time.
So, through the tattered clouds' spindrift,
That blows from that silent sea,
I watch for her light past the ports of night
Where she sails, homebound to me.
Night and peace, and the singing winds,
And the snow peaks looming high,
I lie out on the voyaging stars
And watch the fleets sail by.

Golden Wedding Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stauffer Celebrated Tuesday

MARRIED—At the home, and by the Rev. Edmund Forney, near Pennsylvania Corners, last Wednesday, March 17, William Charles Stauffer and Laura Virginia Beam, most estimable young people of our community. They were unattended, and will reside on a farm six miles southeast of town.

In some such fashion, a Polo newspaper might have begun its report of a wedding that occurred fifty years ago yesterday. In the unconventional style of the times and the locality, the young pair, undaunted by the "big snow of '81," kept their wedding date, and in the bridegroom's comfortable cutter, navigated the ten miles of drifts from the bride's home to that of the minister, and began that most precious and wonderful and important of all life's experiences—the building of a home unbreakable save by death.

For twenty-three years the Ogle county farm home was the scene of toil, thrift and neighborhood fellowship. Frugality and industry and rugged honesty brought a deserved and gratifying prosperity. With the marriage of their daughter and the son's graduation from college, Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer purchased property in Dixon at 215 Lincoln Way, in 1904, where, adjacent to their daughter's home, they lived continuously these twenty-seven years, their second residence in the half-century.

Here, yesterday, an informal anniversary celebration occurred throughout the day. Visitors came and went; telegrams, flowers, messages by mail and telephone from far and near, and permanent tokens of money and otherwise voiced the high regard of many friends; and at the noon hour thirty-five relatives and friends from the old Ogle county neighborhood entered the commodious Lincoln Way residence, unannounced, bringing with them a prepared feast of characteristic magnitude and magnificence.

From the beginning the Stauffer home has been actively identified with church life and work. For twenty-eight consecutive years, Mrs. Stauffer has served as a Bible school teacher; and Mr. Stauffer an almost equal time as church deacon and trustee. Greetings came from several in the First Christian church of Atlanta, Ga., where the elder Stauffers have visited their distinguished son, Dr. C. Roy Stauffer, the pastor. And a very dainty gold-laid buffet and cake set was brought in the evening by the officers of the Dixon Christian church Aid Society, which organization Mrs. Stauffer had served as President for fourteen years.

During the day their daughter, Mrs. Clinton B. Rhodes, assisted in receiving and the Rhodes family, Miss Dorothy Buzzard and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Cleaver were guests at a six o'clock dinner.

Good health, bright optimism and deep appreciation marked the appearance and conversation of this honored couple, in the attainment of their "Golden Wedding Day." Mrs. Stauffer voiced their feelings in her own genuine way. "No, we were not so very old fifty years ago, and it is these things today, in bringing back the past, only make us feel younger, and want to live longer. We surely thank our friends and everyone."

Women Employees I. N. U. Co. will Hold Important Meet. Friday

Announcement is made of a meeting of the women employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company, to be held in Dixon on Friday, March 20th. Seventy women employees of the company will attend the meeting which has been arranged by the Women's Committee of the Company for its members. The program will be given to a discussion of household equipment and will be held in the Company Assembly room starting at 9:00 a. m.

Miss Russell is conducting a large program of work into one day. The major pieces of equipment will be demonstrated, and she will touch on the practicability and behavior of the smaller pieces. Following is an outline of subjects and work for the meeting.

Dinner will be served at one o'clock in the Banquet Hall of the Masonic Temple, the Order of Eastern Star serving. Here again the electric temperament will creep in for the women are decorating their table with color-light. A centerpiece of tulip covered lights will reach from one end of the long table to the other, giving a fascinating and lovely effect. A mistletoe rabbit, looking into a broken egg shell of wondrous colors, will form the centerpiece of the unusually lovely decorations. The following dinner program will be given:

Some Excellent Hints on How to Avoid Spring Fever

The onions that "bloom in the spring tra la," and all the other things, are to quote a popular song, "just around the corner—waiting for you!"

But before this joyous season arrives, it would behoove the most of us to get ready for it—by seeing that our bodies are functioning properly, and well able to withstand the onslaught of the changing season.

"Spring fever," that ancient and time-honored ailment we were wont to dose with the dark brown horror of sulphur and molasses, is not so mythical as we think. It is really an outward force of the depleted state of our bodily "tone," an outward sign of lack of stored-up vitamins and energy, that sometimes accompanies the inactive winter months.

The way then to avoid spring fever—and therefore the dread, familar tonic—is to be sure the body gets its full supply, right now, of the minerals and vitamins necessary to health.

Green vegetables and fruits should be plentiful in the diet of course. An added source of energy for these last few cold weather months may be nicely supplied with an abundance of those foods which supply the essentials. Dried fruits, dates in particular, are extremely helpful, for they supply iron for the red corpuscles, calcium for the teeth and bones, besides other minerals, and the vitamins A and B.

Here are excellent spring recipes, all guaranteed good enough to dispel any memories of sulphur and molasses. Notice that many of them contain rhubarb, a favorite spring time delicacy.

Rhubarb Vanity
1 lb. pink rhubarb
1 cup sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
Wash rhubarb and cut without peeling into 1-2 inch pieces. Place rhubarb and sugar in tightly covered saucepan and cook over low heat until juices begin to flow. Uncover and cook to the consistency of marmalade, stirring frequently. Add sugar and oil. Fold cold mixture and 3-4 cup coconut into stiffly beaten egg whites. Pile whip into sherbet glasses; sprinkle with remaining coconut. Chill thoroughly. Serve with cream or custard made from egg yolks and one cup of milk. This recipe will make six generous servings. This may be made with any fruit which has a tart flavor and decided color.

Syrup Bran Bread
1 teaspoon soda
1-2 cups dark corn syrup
1-4 cups sour milk
1-2 cups bran
1-2 cup seeded raisins
2 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
Sift dry ingredients except bran. Mix liquids, add bran, raisins and dry ingredients. Bake in oiled loaf pan 45 minutes starting at 300 F. for 15 minutes, increasing to 350 F. and 400 F. for the last 30 minutes.

Energy Salad
1-2 pkg. pasteurized dates
1 pkg. cream cheese lettuce
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons seedless raisins
Salad dressing
Mince parsley by forming the leaves into compact ball and cutting with scissors. Mash cheese with a fork and add parsley and raisins. Moisten if necessary with cream or salad dressing. Stuff pitted dates with cheese mixture and serve on lettuce with favorite salad dressing. 4 servings.

Advocate Peace With Honor and Security

Decatur, Ill., Mar. 18 (AP)—Speakers before the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Illinois Daughters of the American Revolution here last night warned against what they described as the evils of Communism and the need of adequate defense.

Col. Paul V. McNutt, Past National Commander of the American Legion; Mrs. Alfred Brosseau, Past President General of D. A. R.; and Edward Hayes, Past State Commander of the Legion, addressed the delegates.

Mrs. Brosseau said that the greatest menaces to this country today are "propaganda and propagandists." Col. McNutt declared permanent peace must be peace with honor and security. He said a better method than war must be found for settling disputes but until such a method is found, adequate defense is only reasonable.

"We must not admit to this country any more aliens than we can assimilate and make into responsible citizens," he said.

CO-ED STUDIES POTTERY. HOPES TO RUN FACTORY

Columbus, O.—(AP)—Three years hence at Zanesville, her home town Alice Jo Gitter, freshman at the Ohio State university, expects to be making special and expensive types of pottery in a factory all her own.

Alice was the only girl among 102 students in the engineering college who received recognition for class work in the last quarter. She is studying ceramics.

Her father is a wealthy Zanesville pottery manufacturer, and she hopes to carry on his business. He has promised to build her a factory when she finishes school. Next summer she will work in the Gitter factory, helping the men in tasks that eventually produce pots and jars.

GIRLS IN KIMONOS REPLACE STEWARDESSES ON OCEAN LINES

Yokohama—(AP)—Two hundred kimonos-clad Japanese girls are to become stewardesses on the trans-Pacific ships of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha (the Japan Mail Line), the company has announced. The steamship officials believe that the girls will be more attentive than men.

The experiment will be tried out during the summer and if the young women are a success in this role, additional girls will be employed for other ships of the line. The wages will be about the same as those paid to the Japanese "boys."

Oklahoma's Ousted Governor In Race

Oklahoma City, Mar. 18.—(AP)—John Calloway Walton was returning today to the political ladder from which he was hurled by the Oklahoma legislature in 1923.

The former Governor, impeached and ousted from office and now under indictment on a charge of using the mails to defraud, was voted one of two nominees for mayor of Oklahoma City in a non-partisan municipal primary election yesterday.

He will enter the final election April 7 with C. J. Blinn, who received 8,361 votes to Walton's 8,189. Mayor Walter C. Dean trailed with three other candidates.

"Barin" Jack Walton, making his comeback at 50, seeks return to the office he held prior to his short-lived term as Governor. The majority is a step toward realization of his frustrated ambition to sit in the United States Senate.

THE JOY OF WORKING.

When Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, on his 90th birthday, remarked that his work was not done yet, and would never be done as long as he lived, he aimed a shaft right at the center of one of the oldest of human dreams.

This dream—which all of us, in one way or another, nourish now and then—is the dream of somehow getting one's life work finished so that one can get out of harness and sit down somewhere to enjoy the evening of life in carefree idleness and repose.

Most of us, of course, are fated never to make that dream come true; but we keep on dreaming it, just the same, looking forward to some time in the future when we can stop working and take things easy. And it is just this that Mr. Justice Holmes will have none of.

"The work," says the aged justice, "never is done while the power to work remains. It cannot be, while you still live. For to live is to function. That is all there is in living."

Perhaps this is something that applies only to those fortunate people who have found work for which they are especially fitted and which they especially enjoy. Mr. Justice Holmes, of course, falls into that classification exactly. Not all of us are that lucky.

Nevertheless, to a certain degree his remark has a universal application. And its truth rests largely on a little-understood but important fact; namely, that we enjoy life most, not when we are actually seeking happiness, but when we have completely forgotten about it and are working our heads off at the day's job.

Often enough this job is not particularly interesting. Often enough the man who is plugging away at it can think of many other jobs that he would enjoy a good deal more. But that is not the point. The point is that to plunge head-over-heels into work to lose one's self in the doing of something, so that all of one's energies and abilities are called into play constantly—is to know a completeness of living that can be known in no other way.

For life is not exactly a toilsome pilgrimage, towards a restful stopping place where one can lie under the trees and wait for the night. It is the sum total of all of the things one does, day in and day out. If these things hold one, and demand the utmost one can give them, life comes, in the end, to a respectable sum. It is easy to see that this is just what has happened to Mr. Justice Holmes.

THE NEW BASEBALL.

As the time approaches for the opening of the baseball season, fans are growing increasingly apprehensive about the new ball. With its heavier hide and coarser stitching the new regulation ball, they fear, will slow up the game more than ever. And as if to confirm their gravest doubts, John McGraw, veteran pilot of the New York Giants declares the new "pill" is deadened.

Reports of the deadening of the new ball, like those on Mark Twain's death, are greatly exaggerated. There is no evidence from the training camps that the ball isn't sailing as far as it used to, when properly hit, of course. Some of the players, it is said, haven't even noticed they were dealing with a new medium!

Far from slowing up the game, there is every reason to believe the new experiment will enliven it, or, at least, make it more interesting. In recent seasons, home-runs have grown to such epidemic proportions as to cause fans to look upon them as ordinary rather than spectacular. All that matters to them in home runs now, aside from the scores they bring in a given game, is who will make the most four-base clouts in the season.

Now the pitchers, thanks to the raised seams, can practice a keener deception. They will have better control, get sharper "breaks," more acute "drops." In short, they will be able to produce the same bewildering effects as "roughening" and "slicing" the ball, now taboo, enabled them to.

With sluggers whacking the ball harder and to greater distances than ever before in baseball history, this new power afforded the pitchers will act as a compensatory factor, like an ordinary law of physics. It's as simple as that. At any rate, fans, watch for closer, more interesting games this season.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

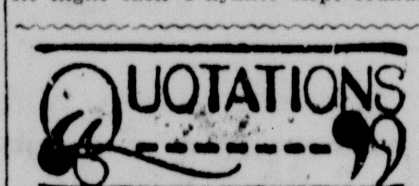

The truck was shortly safe and sound upon the big ship, Bombay bound. The whistle of the big boat then began to root real loud. "Come on," exclaimed the Travel Man. And up the gangplank they all ran. The boat pulled out and with it took a very happy crowd.

"Where are our state rooms?" Clowdy said. "I hope I have a nice soft bed. I love to sleep while sailing out across the deep blue sea."

"Right down this way," a bellhop said. "And you will find a dandy bed. When you crawl in I'm sure that you'll be comfy as can be."

It wasn't long till every one was settled. "Gee, but this is fun," said Scouty. "Let's go out on deck and see what we can find." They shortly met the captain who said, "I'll do all I can for you." And all the time they were on board he certainly was kind.

'Twas far from Durban to Bombay and they were long upon their way, but every minute was enjoyed, 'cause there was heaps to do. All day they played and strolled around. At night each Tinymite slept sound.

CALHOUN'S BIRTH

On March 18, 1872, John C. Calhoun, distinguished American statesman, was born in Abbeville district, South America.

Entering Yale college in 1892, Calhoun was graduated two years later with high honors. He resumed the study of law, which he began at the age of 16, and was admitted to the bar in 1907. The next year he was sent to the State Legislature in South Carolina where he attracted so much attention as to secure an election to Congress in 1911.

Calhoun later served as secretary of war under Monroe and vice president under John Quincy Adams and then under Jackson. In 1829 Calhoun declared that a state can nullify unconstitutional laws, and in his "Address to the People of South Carolina" three years later, set forth his theory of state sovereignty. On the passing of the nullification ordinance by his state he resigned the vice presidency and entered the Senate, where he became a champion of the slaveholding states.

Calhoun, Henry Clay and Daniel Webster are often called "the great triumvirate" of American political creators of their time.

JOLIET WARDEN REFUSES TO LET PRISONERS RULE

Makes Prompt Answer To Convicts' Plea For "Home Rule"

Joliet, Ill., Mar. 18.—(UP)—An announcement that Joliet penitentiary was not a "country club" and that he would maintain order or resign was Warden Henry C. Hill's curt answer today to the offer of 1,100 rebellious convicts to cease rioting if granted concessions which virtually would amount to "home rule."

The prisoners' offer and the warden's prompt and vigorous refusal to arbitrate with them followed close upon two more unsuccessful riot attempts, one at old Joliet and the other at the new Stateville model prison three miles away.

The first attempt occurred at Stateville where 20 members of the prison band fought among themselves yesterday over the suggestion of a riot similar to that of last Sunday at Joliet in which two prisoners were killed and two wounded.

Disagreement over the riot plan led to a free-for-all fight in which band instruments were used as weapons. Guards stopped the fight and placed the men in solitary confinement.

Second Riot Attempt
The second disturbance began in the mess hall at Joliet, scene of Saturday's disorder. Several men started throwing food and dishes, and shouted for a general riot to "wreck the joint again."

Guards quelled the attempt immediately, and placed three of the ring leaders in solitary confinement. None of the men involved in this second mess hall violence were participants in Saturday's riot.

Meanwhile the 1,100 prisoners who have been locked in their cells since the affair of last week, continued shouting their demands for return of privileges and regular prison fare. Leaders of this group, certain that their demands would be met, began to circulate a paper among the prisoners asking that "peace terms" be submitted.

The news that this petition, to be presented to the board of investigation now examining prison conditions, was being circulated reached Warden Hill through his deputy, George Erickson.

"I have been told that the prisoners intend to circulate a petition to allow them to select an advisory council among themselves to sit in with administrative officials and pass on judgment to be meted out," Warden Hill said, adding that the convicts sought also to abolish solitary confinement and permission to gamble funds from their prison accounts.

Promises Punishment
"Any man who signs such a petition will be thrown into solitary, and kept there a long time on bread and water," said Hill. "This is not a country club and there is no reason why convicts should be treated as members of one."

"When the time comes that I find it necessary to take orders from the prisoners I will resign."

That the investigating committee would find a former prison official who championed the convict cause was expected today with the announcement of former Chaplain George L. Whitmeyer, who resigned from his post by request, that he would appear before the board to tell them that the three convicts killed in the attempted escape from Joliet on Feb. 2 were deliberately ambushed by the guards.

"I warned officials of that break," he said, "instead of stopping it beforehand they waited until the men climbed over the wall and then shot them with machine guns. That's what caused the week-end riot."

REVERSED FORTUNES

"Remember that thou in thy lifetime receivedst thy good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented." Luke 16:25. (Read Luke 16:19-31.)

MEDITATION:

The rich man had noticed the sick beggar laid at his gate. He recognizes him too late and even knows his name. Now that their positions are reversed he asks a favor of Lazarus to whom he never showed kindness. Must we all, sooner or later, learn what it is to suffer? And what it is to need a friend? Somehow somewhere the inequities of life are to be righted. That does not mean that we should rest contented with present conditions in the assurance of future adjustment. It means rather a condemnation of present conditions. Those who selfishly enjoy their present plenty are making a terrible mistake. The sick and needy poor are suffering a cruel wrong. Now is the time to right these things if the Kingdom of God is to come.

PRAYER:

O Lord our God, bring to an end the scorning of them that are at ease and the contempt of the proud; forget not the needy nor let the expectation of the poor perish forever. In His name, who though He was rich, became poor for our redemption. Amen.

PAW PAW NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Engelhardt were tendered a delightful surprise last Friday evening at their home just west of Cottage Hill, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. At seven o'clock, about sixty-five relatives and friends gathered to help them celebrate this happy event.

The self-invited guests were more than welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Engelhardt. The evening was spent in visiting and merrymaking. One of the amusing events was that Henry recalled how he went to see Lena on bicycle way back in 1905.

Mr. and Mrs. Engelhardt were the recipients of several beautiful gifts including silverware. At a late hour a very delicious lunch was served by the self invited guests. At the close of the lunch Rev. Grosshans gave a short interesting talk in which he reminded the happy couple of the spiritual blessing which they had received in the past twenty-five years. He ended his talk by a poem about a shy lad who lost his fair lady and added that those present were pleased that Henry won Lena on March 6, 1906 or this happy celebration would not have been possible. As everyone left for their home they wished Mr. and Mrs. Engelhardt many more years of happy married life together.

Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. L. J. Grasshans, Mr. and Mrs. John Walter and Mr. and Mrs. John Schlesinger and families from near Compton; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schlesinger, John Raufman, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Miller and families, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Novak, Misses Alice Schmitz and Lucile Bauman, Carl Volkert, Paul Miller from north of Mendota; Misses Mary Engelhardt and Amelia Walter from Mendota; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walter from Paw Paw; Mr. and Mrs. James Palmatier and son from Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wenzel from near Peru and one following from near Cottage Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Engelhardt, Mr. and Mrs. John Engelhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Volkert, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Schlesinger, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hoelzer and Mr. and Mrs. August Schlesinger and families.

Bonus To Farmer For Saving Game Urged In Report

New York—"Game conservation has not yet come to grips with fundamental causes of wild life depletion," claims Aldo Leopold, wild life investigator, in a report just published on his two-year survey of game conditions in eight north central states.

Presented as the first complete investigation of the kind ever undertaken, the survey covered Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio to discover the extent of game scarcity, the causes and possible remedies.

"More game would be produced by paying the farmer a bonus on hedges and brush covers than by spending thousands of dollars a year as at present on foreign birds," Leopold declares. "The machinery is already here for the effective restoration of native game."

The most important factor in the destruction of wild life is the debrushing of woodlots and drainage channels by agriculture and grazing, he says.

"The policy of modern farming is to turn every yard of land into crops or pasture. All other conservation measures are but stop-gaps until this fundamental deterioration of environment is in some way checked. The net trend of game is downward on the best soils, and will so continue unless counter forces are brought to bear upon the landowners."

As the chief remedy the investigator urged that farmers be compensated for making their land produce desirable wild life. He also urged that public ownership and management of game lands be extended while such areas are still available at low prices and that

Later Organization Not To Investigate Athletic Conditions

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, March 18—(UP)—Possibility of a break between the Western Conference and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools was lessened today with the announcement from H. M. Gage, President of Coe College and Chairman of the Association's Commission on Institutions of Higher Education, that his organization would not insist for a showdown on the subject of athletic control.

"If the Western Conference does not wish our athletic committee to investigate its athletic affairs that is up to the schools in the Big Ten and we will not force the issue," said Gage.

Northwestern University's recent objection to having its athletic affairs investigated by the North Central group seemed to threaten a breach between the two organizations.

After two days of secret sessions last night, the North Central body was scheduled to make known its report in an open meeting today.

Curtailed of interscholastic athletics by the North Central group seems certain in view of the report made by E. E. Morley, Principal of the Cleveland Heights (Ohio) high school. Questionnaires were sent out to 2,329 high school principals, and 75 per cent answered.

The majority favored, it was understood, limiting participation to one game a week in all sports. The vote was more than 2 to 1 against national tournaments. Interscholastic activities for girls in all sports would be barred on the basis of the poll.

Crane Junior College of Chicago was reinstated yesterday by the North Central group and Butler University was expected to be restored to good standing today.

President Gage denied that there was any ill feeling between Northwestern and any other Big Ten school and the North Central organization.

"We received a very courteous letter from Northwestern asking that our investigation be temporarily be suspended until the authorities at that school could discuss the situation with other members of the Big Ten and clarify the situation. We never investigate any institution against its will."

ALL BUT EIGHT HOLDOUTS HAVE BEEN SIGNED UP

The 1931 Season Is One Of Most Unsuccessful For Recalcitrants

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Mar. 18—(UP)—Unless several of the eight remaining unsigned players win salary arguments with their owners, the 1931 season will go down in history as the most unsuccessful year for major league "holdouts."

Although the opening of the spring training season saw an untold crop of determined holdouts, all but eight players, now are under contract and not a single athlete has won a salary argument.

Bill Terry of the Giants, Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, Carl Reynolds of the White Sox, Eddie Morgan of the Indians and many other apparently had strong arguments to support their demands for larger salaries.

However, with the club owners presenting a united front against the demands for increased pay, the players were forced to take the contracts tendered or quit baseball. Most of the players accepted the inevitable and at present the only unsigned major league players are:

Player and Team Salary Club's asked offer

Dazy Vance, Rob. $25,000 $22,500
Al Simmons, Ath. 35,000 30,000

Chuck Klein, Phil. 18,000 15,000
Chas. Dreesen, Red. 15,000 12,000

Larry French, Pitt. X 7,500

Lu Blue, Browns X 8,000
Warren Collins, Browns X 7,500

X—Figures not made public.
Of this group Vance and Simmons are believed to have reached an agreement with their employers. Simmons always delays signing in order to escape the spring exhibition games. Vance is reported to have agreed to terms and is expected to sign his contract in time to accompany the Robins to Cuba.

Mystery Authors Give "Solutions" Of Gordon Murder

By MORRIS WATSON
New York, Mar. 18—(AP)—The body of Vivian Gordon was found in Van Cortlandt Park on the morning of February 26.

These are the clues:
She was strangled with a rope—her coat was missing—she kept a diary revealing fear of several persons and she was known to have offered information in the Magistrate's Courts Vice inquiry.

Here are "solutions" offered by weavers of murder mystery thrillers:
Harry Stephen Keeler, author of "Sing Sing Nights"—she was murdered by a jealous gangster lover who knew about her prospective vice revelations, and took pains to depart from gang tradition in dispatching her. He committed it in his own car in some lonely section, but left the body in a public park where it would be quickly found.

Aubrey Boyd, author of "No Man's Woman"—The hand that strangled Vivian Gordon obeyed the prompting of other minds. Robbery seems to have been incidental and a cover for the real motive.

Martin Freeman, author of "The Murder of a Midget"—Miss Gordon was murdered not because of what she had told or might tell before the vice inquiry, but because of what she might tell before a federal grand jury. She likely knew at least one of the murderers. The crime was committed by amateurs.

Bruce Harrison, author of "A-100"—she received the customary underworld penalty for "squealing." She knew too much for the comfort of any number of potential murderers.

Burton E. Stevenson, author of "Mystery of the Boule Cabinet"—Vivian Gordon was murdered by someone whom her promised disclosures threatened to incriminate, or the agent of such a person.

Charles J. Dutton, author of "Murder in a Library"—fear plays all over this case. Vivian Gordon was afraid of death and the diaries are filled with the outpourings of the fear of an overemotional woman. A clew is hidden in the diary. Pearl Find out who was afraid, discover why they were afraid.

Henry C. Beck, author of "Murder in the News Room"—Miss Gordon was slain by her associates her friends, not her enemies. They killed her because they thought she was going to expose the racket in which she was engaged. Miss Gordon had a Cuban maid. The use of a rope is a common murder method in Cuba and the Latin-American countries. Perhaps it is there that the key clew would be found.

BROOKLYN TEAM HAS SURPLUS OF PUNCHING POWER

Pitching Staff Is Great: Robins Real Factor In Pennant Race

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Clearwater, Fla., Mar. 18—(AP)—Picture a portly, kindly-looking old gentleman with a twinkle in his eye, a chew of tobacco in his jaw, instilling ferocity into a band of baseball hijackers and you have an idea what your Uncle Wilbert Robinson is doing with his Brooklyn boys.

Uncle Robbie has developed the killer instinct. Lively ball or no lively ball, and Robbie says you can't tell the difference, he has put together a bevy collection of sluggers calculated to strike fear into the opposition.

The outfield composed of Lefty O'Doul, Babe Herman, and Johnny Frederick averaged 370 at bat last year and should do as well or better this year. Frederick and Herman are still on the upgrade as ball players. O'Doul has been lapping the stitches off the new ball in camp.

The regular infield, consisting of Captain Glenn Wright at short, Wally Gilbert on third, Fresno Thompson at second and Del Bissnette on first, also averages over 300 at the plate.

Tampa Al Lopez, catching sensation of 1930, hit for 308 and should go many notches higher.

With a sort of ferocious glee, Uncle Robbie watches these fellows go up to the plate and, as he says, "rattle the boards."

Brooklyn's drive for a pennant in this company seems well fortified. The pitching defense may not be the best in the league but it is close to it. The high priced Dazy Vance,

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should try Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study. Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and help overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c.

William Watson Clark, Adolfo Lacue, Ray (Babe) Phelps, who won 14 games in his first major league season; Hollis Thurston and Ray Moss compose the principal firing line. Old John Picus Quinn and his pitball promise to be helpful. The Robins are not polished-looking. Fleetness of foot and quickness of mind are not among their noteworthy points as a team. However, they have the essentials of punch, pitching and leadership to make them pennant factors.

HAVE HOPES FOR BOY

Chicago, Mar. 18—(AP)—A strong heart action and lower temperature gave rise to new hopes today for saving the life of Charles Cahney, 7-year-old boy, who has lived thirteen days in a drinker respirator. The lad suffered paralysis of the throat from scarlet fever and diphtheria. He now has pneumonia, too.

ELECTION LAWS COMMISSION IS TO REPORT SOON

Will Make Recommendations to Legislature
Within Few Days

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Springfield, Ill., March 18.—(UP)—Grouping of candidates and propositions on a single ballot as an aid to efficient and quick voting is proposed in a report which the Illinois Election Laws Commission will make to the state legislature within the next few weeks, the United Press reliably learned today.

The report of the commission, which has been studying Illinois' election laws and comparing them with those of other states for nearly a year, is now near completion and Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Chicago, chairman, is expected to present it to the legislature about April 1. Other members of the commission are Melton J. Foreman, Chicago, and James S. Baldwin, Deatur.

Other changes, it was said, will be recommended in the commission's report one of them including the suggestion that independent candidates be grouped by office instead of by columns.

To Group Independents
The recommendations, it was declared, would leave the standing of major Republican and Democratic parties undisturbed, each of these parties being entitled to listing under separate heading and in separate columns. All others would be grouped in single column labeled "independent" regardless of what affiliation claimed.

The report, it is said, will recommend that in carrying out this idea the present law be amended so as to place further restrictions on independents. Under the present law any party may be listed as a major party if it can show that it obtained two per cent of the total vote at the last previous election. The report, it was said, would raise the barrier to independents by increasing the percentage to five per cent.

Supporters of the single ballot idea and the grouping of independents under one heading point to the last election in support of their argument.

At that election there were three ballots and in some communities where local propositions were involved the number was greater. Also the ballot listing candidates contained as high as eleven columns, the first column to be used to list propositions, the second and third for Democrats and Republicans and the fourth for Independents. Should an independent obtain five per cent of the vote it would entitle his organization to be listed on a separate column at the next election.

The commission's report also is said to recommend that the party circle at the top of the column be maintained. A proposal to eliminate the circle is contained in bills before the legislature.

During my visit at San Antonio, Texas, I attended a style show at the Gunter Hotel. I must admit at first I felt rather shaky to be seated in the magnificent dining room where at every table were seated the social leaders of San Antonio. However, I glanced around and saw William McIntosh, publisher of the San Antonio Light, seated at a nearby table. He was using his eyes overtime, so I did the same.

An ingenious arrangement has been worked out between the Gunter Hotel and one of the leading stylists of the city whereby weekly style shows are held in the Terrace dining room of the hotel each Tuesday during the lunch hour.

Through this arrangement the latest fashion dictates from New York and Paris are brought directly to the social elite of San Antonio and displayed by attractive models. A promenade has been erected for this purpose through the center of the dining room, and music is furnished for the occasion by Herman Waldman and his Brunswick recording orchestra.

The arrangement has proven extremely popular with San Antonio women who are interested in styles. So great has the interest become that it has been necessary to increase the capacity of the dining room to twice its former capacity, and a special menu is provided for this occasion.

Beach pajamas, lounging robes, street suits, afternoon frocks and evening gowns are shown. Also, through the cooperation of other retail merchants, shoes, hose, millinery and dress essentials are shown to complete the ensemble.

The weekly style shows have proven San Antonio's most popular social event. Men and women attend the women showing an eagerness to acquaint themselves with the styles, the men seeking something they may purchase later for their wives.

I am told this is the first city to make such an arrangement, and the event has gained national recognition in newspapers and publications. The affiliation of the city's leading hotel with the newspaper advertising of the stores has made it a wonderful success.

There are two educational trips—one to Washington, D. C., leaving National Park and Chattanooga, March 29th, one to Knoxville, Smoky Tenn., March 28. For further particulars address the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

PHILADELPHIA JARRED LOOSE BY SCHOFIELD

Activities Of Director Of Safety Have Aroused Penna. City

BY PAUL COMLY FRENCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Philadelphia, March 18—(UP)—It took a constitutional amendment to stir the political lethargy of the citizens of the Quaker City.

For not since the old bronze bell in the belfry of the state house proclaimed "liberty" throughout the land, have Philadelphians been so aroused as they have been by the liquor raiding activities of their director of Public Safety, Lemuel Braddock Schofield. When he became head of the department on December 1, 1928, the city still had with many its ancient reputation of being "corrupt and contented."

Liquor flowed despite the sensational dry manifestos of Gen. Smedley Darlington Butler, who as Director, tried to make the city dry. When he was dismissed by Mayor W. Freeland Kendrick, he was followed by his former assistant, George Elliott.

Drinks plentiful
Drinks could be obtained under Elliott and no change was noticeable during the early months of the administration of Harry A. Mackay, who had named Harry C. Davis, former Executive Secretary of the Varc-controlled Republican city committee as Director of Public Safety.

Then in August, 1928, a special grand jury commenced an investigation into the alliance between gangsters and racketeers and the police. As a result, Davis was forced to resign, although it is now generally understood that he had been in office too short a time to be entirely responsible for the conditions in the Bureau of Police.

With his dismissal, Schofield, who as an Assistant District Attorney under John Monaghan, had been vigorously pushing the investigation which involved inspectors, captains, lieutenants, and patrolmen, was named as director.

With his advent things began to happen.

His first official act was the issuance of his famous "General Order No. 1" which stated in determined language that he intended to be the absolute "boss" of the department. He announced that he would not tolerate any political interference with the men under him as long as he remained as director. As a result of his fiat, together with ensuing raids police made under his direction, he became involved in a series of controversies with politicians, city officials, businessmen and civic leaders. He insisted that he was not responsible for the enactment of legislation unpopular with the people, but that as long as he was director, all laws would be enforced impartially.

And in pursuing his orders, police have raided American Legion posts, Veterans of Foreign War homes, two of the most exclusive clubs in the city, the rectory of a church, the Newspapermen's Club, a hotel, a steamship about to sail for Cuba, a country club, hundreds of homes and numerous speakeasies.

Was Complete Boss
In addition to his liquor raiding activities, he was sought to enforce the Pennsylvania Sunday law of 1794, commonly termed the "blue law", which forbids any "worldly employment on Sunday."

Players on amateur baseball teams were arrested when their games were played on Sunday and the crowds cleared from the fields by police orders. Operators of miniature golf courses were summoned to appear before a magistrate for violating the law and were usually fined $4.50 and $3.00 costs.

During the course of his administration of the Department of Public Safety, various groups have protested to the mayor and council. Other civic bodies and individuals have upheld him.

Several times rumors have been current that the mayor would demand his resignation, but on every occasion the mayor has upheld his Directors and announced "that he was in perfect accord with him, although at times I have felt he was a trifle over-zealous."

Daily Health Talk

Glaucoma causes about one-third of all of the blindness occurring in human beings after 40 years of age. It is a condition in which pressure within the eyeball brings about loss of sight.

The blood that comes into the eye to nourish it must pass out, or there takes place an accumulation of fluid. This is what occurs in glaucoma.

If the outlets from the eye get stopped up, the pressure is felt, particularly in the form of pain. The eye gets hard and red; the front of the eye gets gray and cloudy. This condition is called acute glaucoma, and in almost every case the person who is concerned goes at once to a physician and probably gets prompt relief by operation.

The second form of glaucoma to blindness. Glaucoma recognized late is exceedingly difficult to control. Glaucoma recognized early lends itself much more favorably to treatment.

This disease may be treated by the use of drugs which lower the pressure in the eye and contract the pupil. If seen early and treated correctly these drugs may enable the affected persons to avoid operation. However, the condition can not be controlled by the use of glasses. If drugs do not control it the establishment of a new method of drainage by surgery to keep the pressure in the eye permanently low is an approved method of treatment. The National Society for the prevention of Blindness has a pamphlet on the subject which it sells for 20 cents. Anyone who wants to know more about glaucoma should send for this pamphlet to 370 Seventh avenue, New York City.
